Jo's legacy

others when we feel upset

What happened to Jo reminds us that we must:

The Great Get Together

11) Organise an event in your community that helps to unite people, bridge divides and tackle loneliness.

- What would be a fun event to achieve these things?
- How could you make people feel welcome?
- Who would you invite?

Make notes on your ideas here:

Visit greatgettogether.org to find out more.

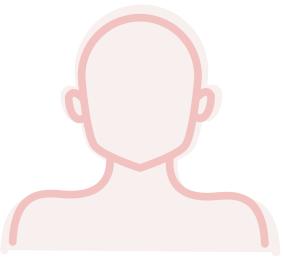

Family Friendly exhibition trail for adults and children to complete together.

- 1) Find a picture of Jo and draw her in the outline above.
- 2) Around the edge, write words you can find that describe her identity and the things she cared about.
- 3) Do any of these words describe you too?
- 4) What do you think Jo meant when she said:

'We are far more united and have far more in common than that which divides us'

In Jo's memory

In 2016, Jo was attacked and killed.

The person who murdered Jo did not agree with her belief that we should celebrate what we have in common.

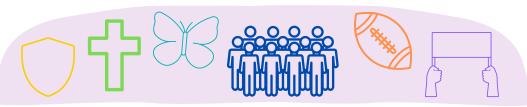

Losing Jo shocked people across the country and many people were deeply upset.

5) What has helped you feel happy again when you've been sad or upset?

When we lose someone we care about it can help to:

- Talk about how we feel.
- Think about happy memories we shared.
- Do something to remember them.

6) Can you find these objects that show how people remembered Jo after she died?

'My mum would not want us to be sad. She'd want us to make a difference in the world.'

More in Common project group

Many people who share Jo's beliefs and values have found interesting ways to continue her legacy.

Can you find the projects that inspired these activities?

A Day in the Life

7) Think about a memorable day you've had in the last few months.

What made it special? The people, music, the weather, or something else?

Threads that Bind Us

- Look at the pieces of clothing.
 - What can you see?
 - What do you think about clothing?
 - What question would you like to ask the creator of the clothes?

Voices of Manchester

8) Ask a friend questions about their interests, identity and family.

What do you have in common?

Looking for More in Common

10) Go for a walk around your local area when you get home.

Take or draw pictures of what makes it unique.

This could be buildings, nature, people, or something else.
