

MUSEUM MYSTERY TRAIL

Illustrations © 2023 Claire Powell

Do you ever get the toe-tingling feeling that a mystery is about to unfold? Meet Montgomery Bonbon (aka Bonnie Montgomery) the world's greatest ten-year-old secret super sleuth! She's the hero of Murder at the Museum, a new book written by Alasdair Beckett-King and illustrated by Claire Powell. To celebrate, we're challenging you to try out your detective skills in the museum today...

MY DETECTIVE NAME IS:

CAN YOU SPY SOMETHING IN THE MUSEUM BEGINNING WITH EACH OF THESE LETTERS?

C

L

U

E

CAN YOU ANSWER THESE QUESTIONS ON YOUR VISIT?

1. What do you think is the oldest object in the museum?

.....

2. Can you find a portrait? Who is it a picture of?

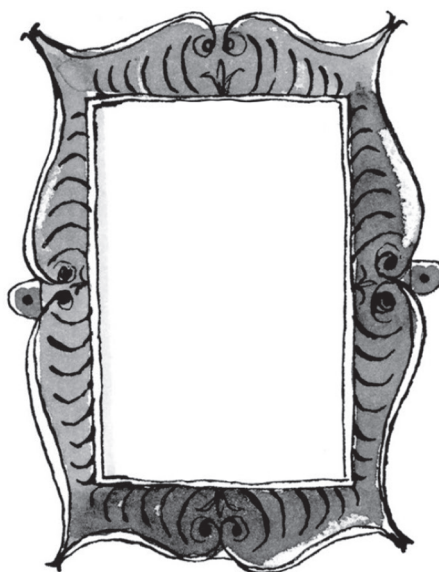

.....

3. What is the strangest object you have seen today?

.....

4. What is the funniest object you have seen today?

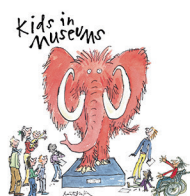

.....

• Master of disguise...

What would your detective disguise be? Draw yourself in the portrait frame next to Bonnie Montgomery. Are there any dress-up items at the museum that you could use for your disguise?

• Brush up your interview skills... Ask a member of your group what their favourite part of the visit today has been. Can they tell you two reasons why?

Spot the Difference
Find the eight differences between these pictures of Bonnie and Grampa Banks at the museum!

- ANSWERS:
Spot the Difference:
1. The ram skull is upside down
 2. The photography sign is different
 3. The sword is missing from the wall
 4. The bird-fish is facing the wrong way
 5. Grampa Banks' camera has gone
 6. Bonnie's backpack has gone
 7. The bear has no claws
 8. The bat has lost his fangs

Word Jumble

Unscramble these words:

TEVEDIETC

DIVECEEN

YMSRTYE

SUMEMU

GUSIDEIS

ANSWERS: DETECTIVE, EVIDENCE, MYSTERY, MUSEUM, DISGUISE

Museum Maze

Can you find Bonnie and Grampa at the museum?

